

Clarence Reynolds, M.S.

Catalyst for Change

•Speaker •Consultant •Motivator

Clarence Reynolds, M.S. in Psychology, has the visionary ability to inspire people and organizations to harness the momentum of this rapidly changing world. His innovative system called Changenomics helps people successfully achieve their goals and realize their dreams by discovering their core abilities and acting with purpose. Changenomics has two critical components: a plan to guide you, and a system to execute that plan. The proven concepts yield immediate results, and help people move forward while learning to adapt to shifting circumstances. Clarence leads the way through a process that will infuse actions with continual and sustainable improvements.

A nationally known media personality, journalist and speaker, Clarence honed his expertise in personal development over a successful two-decade career in front of and behind the camera at some of America's most recognizable names in retail, journalism and communications. Most of that career has been spent creating live broadcasts and connecting with audiences. Clarence developed Changenomics to share the process that propelled his high-profile professional career and personal endeavors. Its principles are designed to strengthen the areas in which Clarence is uniquely qualified to address: sales, customer service, and improved communications.

Today Matters

Now Matters

Harness the momentum of change to propel your journey for improved outcomes in productivity, finances, relationships, health, and career.

Participants will gain these basic components from each program:

- A customizable approach to continual and sustainable improvement
- Impactful tools to ignite a thought transformation
- Universal principles to facilitate each transition

Changenomics: Keynote (pre or post event)

This inspiring, action-oriented keynote inspires real change and tangible outcomes. It is designed for professional associations, faith-based groups, networking organizations and any company whose associates or employees would benefit from a relevant transformational system that enables them to release their potential by becoming active in their personal and professional transformations.

Do Something to Move Forward in This Moment

Chagenomics: Evolution 2.0

For colleges, universities, fraternities, sororities, professional associations, civic organizations whose constituents includes college and university students, recent graduates, and others just starting their careers. This program also resonates with those experiencing career transitions or are struggling to reinvent themselves for the global marketplace.

Participate in Your Evolution

Changenomics: The Evolution Project

For businesses in changing or dynamic industries like retail, banking, financial services, automotive, government, media (broadcast and print), manufacturing or others feeling the pressures of a changing global marketplace on employees, operations and the bottom line.

Small Steps, Huge Results!

Changenomics sparks a transformation

- Become charged with a mission to improve
- Sidestep the natural resistance to change
- Incorporate knowledge from many sources efficiently
- Learn the three factors critical to holistic success

The Changenomics Time Management Effectiveness Assessment is a powerful productivity solution for businesses. It provides a detailed process for assessing an individual's existing capacity to manage their time efficiently, and highlights specific areas where improvements are possible.

Contact Clarence Today! 1-877-977-4747

www.ignitechangenow.com

booking@ignitechangenow.com